REHEARING REQUEST FARMER IS SLAIN ON WATER RATES IS SET FOR A HEARING 7TH DAY OF MARCH

Commission Will Take up Albany-Decatur Petition at Early Date
MANY DECISIONS ARE RENDERED ON PARDONS
Application for Clemency Denied in Case of Morgan County Man

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 17.—Citizens of Albany and Decatur will come before the public service commission March 7 in support of a petition for the modification of the water rates of the Alabama Water Company. A petition of the city governments of the twin cities asking for lower rates was received by the commission today and the regular meeting date of next month was set for the hearing.

The Alabama Water Company was given an increase in rates a short time ago, but the protestants claim the basis used by the company in the collection of the charges will yield much more than the commission intended to give the company for the service.

Because of the illness of William H. Ambrecht, attorney for the railroad, the public service commission of Alabama returned today from Lucedale, Miss., without hearing the petition of the Alabama-Mississippi railroad for permission to abandon its line from Vinegar Bend, Ala., to Leakesville, Miss. It is probable the petition will be considered next Tuesday.

Members of the Alabama commission were in Lucedale only forty minutes. The petition will be heard jointly by the Alabama commission and the railroad commission of Mississippi, which will make recommendations to the interstate commerce commission.

Andy Carney and Henry Day, convicted in Covington county last September of violating the prohibition laws and sentenced to thirteen months at hard labor, were granted paroles by Governor Kilby today conditioned on their conduct in the future. Citizens of Covington requested clemency.

The head of a dog sent to the state laboratory by G. C. Williams of Fernbank was found to be infected with rabies today and Mr. Williams was advised to have any persons bitten by the dog sent here for treatment at the posteur institute. Several dogs were bitten by the mad one, but no report of human beings having been bitten was made.

Nine applications for executive clemency received the approval of the state board of pardons and twenty-two applications were denied at the February meeting, according to announcement of the secretary of the board today. Governor Kilby must pass upon the petitions before any of those recommended for release are given their liberty.

Those receiving the approval of the board follows: Delos Campbell, DeKalb, second degree murder; Sam Crow, Lauderdale, robbery; Will Gray, Tallapoosa, second degree murder; John Hickman, Macon, manufacturing liquor; John Jones, Marengo, second degree murder; Robert Jordan, Barbour, concealing stolen property; Dewitt Parker, Jefferson, grand larceny; Sydney Poellnitz, Marengo, assault to murder; Gover Williams, Jefferson, first degree manslaughter.

Applications for clemency were denied in the following cases: Charlie Arthur, Randolph, distilling; Frank Alexander, Walker, second degree murder; Betty Bernardini, Bibb, distilling; Floyd Brown, Autauga, burglary; Clint Carnes, Tuscaloosa, first degree murder; John Coffield, Randolph, distilling; Melvin Cox, Lauderdale, manufacturing liquor; Rose Ducoitt, Hgle, second degree murder; Tom Gibson, Pike, assault to murder; Charlie Greer, Lee, distilling; Lepolia Griffin, Jefferson, first degree murder; Porter Griggs, Calhoun, distilling; John Hatchett, Tuscaloosa, attempt to ravish; Austin Henderson, Covington, violating prohibition law; Will Jaems, Jefferson, first degree murder; Ben Mattocks, Madison, burglary and

PHONE EMPLOYEES ORGANIZE TEAM AS FIRST STEP IN PLAN FOR A CITY LEAGUE

C. T. Happer Elected Manager of Phone Folks' Ball Squad
PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR WINNING TEAM
Other Organizations Will be Perfected Soon is Report Today

(International News Service)

A meeting of the employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. & Southern Bell was held yesterday afternoon in the rest room in the interest of organizing a baseball team to enter in the proposed City League League this summer.

A large number of the employees were present and much enthusiasm was shown. C. T. Happer was elected manager and C. G. Harvey treasurer and publicity agent.

The following committee was appointed to arrange for practice games and meet representatives of other teams in the formation of a city league: S. B. White, J. L. Nelson and H. P. Stone. The prospects for a team to represent the telephone company are very good.

This is the first definite action taken toward the formation of a city league. It has been intimated that the cotton men, Kiwanis club, American Legion, high school and other organizations are in favor of the formation of a city league. It is obvious that such a league would prove to be quite an asset and advertisement for the Twin Cities and the business men both of Albany and Decatur have endorsed the plan.

Teams wishing to arrange practice games with the telephone company's team will please confer with the business committee.

JURY EXPECTED TO RECEIVE HILL CASE DURING AFTERNOON
(International News Service)
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 17.—Ed Hill took the stand this morning in his own behalf and denied that he was in any way connected with the death of Earl Truitt, deputy sheriff, for whose murder he is being tried, or with the burial of Truitt's body.

Hill said he had known Truitt for two or three months, but that he did not see the slain deputy on the day of his disappearance. The defendant said he spent the Monday before the fatal Tuesday at home and at daylight on the morning of Truitt's disappearance had eaten breakfast at home and then gone to a grist mill at Creelton, about a quarter of a mile from his house, to get some meal.

He remained at Creelton for some time and returned home about 11 o'clock. Hill declared he saw Sam Creek, his father-in-law, Mr. Atkins and others near the mill that morning.

He saw Truitt on the Monday before when the deputy drove up to his house and Hill said that he and Truitt had a conversation in front of the house.

The conversation was friendly and there was no dispute he continued. Truitt then drove away and according to the witness he never saw the deputy again.

When cross-examination began, Hill appeared very nervous but later gained control of himself. It is expected the case will go to the jury this afternoon.

Tariff Measure Before President
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The temporary tariff bill, passed by the Senate last night, is expected to go to conference today and to reach the President late in the week. The President has indicated to members of Congress that he intends to veto the bill and it is confidently believed the veto message will be forthcoming within a few days.

Passage of the tariff measure in both houses was by so close a margin that there is but slight chance of Congress being able to pass the measure over a veto.

COURT HOLDS LAWRENCE MAN NOT GUILTY LARCENY OWN GUN
Decision Rendered by the Alabama Court of Appeals in Novel Case
(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily)
MONTGOMERY, Feb. 17.—A person may throw rotten eggs and carcasses of animals in the well of his neighbor without violating the statute law of Alabama but he immediately runs against the offense of malicious mischief under the common law which is in operation in Alabama for all cases not within the statute law, according to a decision of the court of appeals Tuesday afternoon in the case of Homer Johnson of DeKalb county.

Johnson was indicted and convicted of throwing rotten eggs and other substances in a well used by Will Pharr, a neighbor. The appellate court reversed the case on the ground that the indictment was defective. However, it pointed out that the offense, when supported by proper evidence, is punishable for malicious mischief under the common law.

In another novel case the appellate court held that June Cantrell, of Lawrence county, could not be convicted of the larceny of his own pistol which was taken from the room which was occupied by a corpse and several mourners. The defendant was fined $10 and given one hour in jail. The appellate court reversed the lower court and rendered a decision absolving Cantrell of all criminal responsibility.

JOINT CONFERENCE TO END DISPUTE ON WAGES IS URGED BY PRESIDENT JEWELL

Answer to Railroads is Given Labor Board at Chicago Hearing
ROADS ARE BLAMED FOR DELAY IN SOLUTION
Jewell Recommends That Board Pass on Differences of Opinion

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Immediate settlement of all wage controversies outstanding before the United States Railway Labor Board by a joint conference of railroad and labor representatives to be held at the earliest possible moment was urged before the board today in a statement by B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

Jewell's statement, presented in rebuttal to the claims of W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania lines, that the country faces a national crisis unless the national wage agreements are abrogated, also recommended that the Railway Labor Board pass immediately upon any differences of opinion, which might arise from the conference.

The labor representatives put the delay in arising at a final decision in the controversy squarely up to the railroads in stating that "if the carriers had obeyed the law and met the employees in national conference, or joined with them in establishing boards of adjustment, all delay could have been avoided."

Scoring the railroads' management to negotiate on a national scale, Mr. Jewell said "by centralizing their own bargaining power and de-centralizing of the unions, they hope to weaken the union by attacking and crushing the local organization, especially those which recently have been formed."

PLAN TO ORGANIZE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF AMERICAN LEGION

Plans were being arranged today for organization of a woman's auxiliary in Morgan County as a part of the organization of the American Legion, following the visit here last night of Vice Commander Winslett, who delivered an address at a special meeting of the local post.

Vice Commander Winslett was accompanied here by Mr. Quinn, who explained the new provisions of the war risk insurance acts as recently enacted by Congress. The Legion now, he said will be glad to take up all claims under the war risk insurance measures and attempt to get any information sought or straightened up which may have become tangled in government red tape.

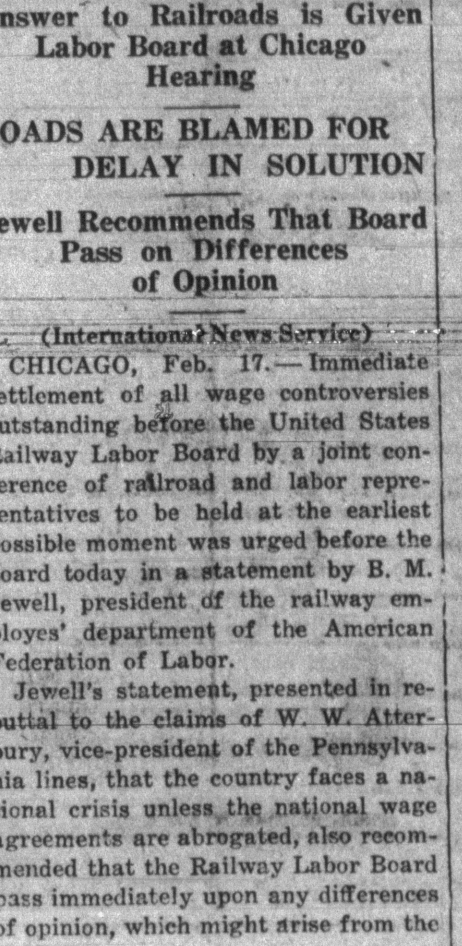

Mr. Winslett's address dealt largely with the Legion, its organization, purposes and he called attention to some of the results accomplished already by the ex-service men's unit. The meeting of the post was held in the Decatur city hall.

Several local women have become interested in the auxiliary, the organization of which was explained by Mr. Winslett, and it is expected that a branch here will begin work at an early date.

Lowden Declines Place in Cabinet
(International News Service)
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 17.—Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois has definitely eliminated himself from the Harding cabinet, it was said officially today. President-elect Harding said he had received assurances from Governor Lowden that his personal affairs would not permit him to engage in any public duties.

Lowden was considered the most available candidate for the naval portfolio and Mr. Harding expressed keenly his regret that the Illinois governor could not consider himself available for appointment.

FAMOUS COMEDIANS TO APPEAR HERE ON NEXT FRIDAY 'PLAYED' TOGETHER NEAR HALF CENTURY

McINTYRE AND HEATH

One of the most interesting events in theatrical circles of the Twin Cities was the announcement today by the management of the Princess theater that a contract has been signed for the appearance of that popular playhouse on February 25 of McIntyre and Heath, world famous comedians.

The association of the two stars is one of the romantic stories of the theater. For nearly half a century they have played together. Their reputation spread beyond the confines of America and they have filled several European engagements.

Back of the announcement of the coming of the two stars of first magnitude to the Twin Cities are two interesting facts. When the committees in charge of the New Orleans Mardi Gras were looking for a headliner for the theatrical entertainment in connection with the festival, McIntyre and Heath's "Hello Alexander" was the unanimous choice. The contracts were signed, but it was impossible to transport the big company to the Crescent City without a break and make the venture a financial success.

For this reason a few of the cities of the South having theaters of great seating capacity were chosen for stops.

The handsome Princess, with a seating capacity of nearly 1500, was chosen because it could care for the crowd.

This remarkable attraction, which is sweeping the country in a gale of laughter, and establishing new records for attendance everywhere, comes here intact, with the famous comedy stars, McIntyre and Heath, the same sparkling cast of musical comedy favorites, and the same amazing bevy of singing and step-dancing Broadway beauties that captivated Chicago as it has since bewitched discriminating amusement lovers in every city it has visited.

COMMUNIST PARTY RENEWS ACTIVITY PALMER ASSERTS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The "Communist party" is renewing its activities throughout the United States and "is threatening to become as active again as it was before the Department of Justice sought to stamp it out, Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer declared today.

Palmer resumed his defense of the Department of Justice and its bureau of investigation in conducting "Red raids" when he appeared before the Senate judiciary committee, which is considering the question of amnesties for Eugene V. Debs and others convicted of violation of the espionage and other war-time acts.

Palmer declared that "Reds are not only active again in this country", but they will "prove a source of trouble" to the next administration.

TWO GUESTS SLAIN IN HOTEL HOLD-UP; BANDITS LOOT MAIL SACKS AT TOLEDO, O.

Robbers Enter Lobby and Demand Valuables From Party of Four VICTIMS THOUGHT THE THIEVES WERE JOKING
Shoot Down Two When They Show the Slightest Resistance

(International News Service)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 17.—Police and sheriff's officials are scouring the city this morning for the two masked bandits and their accomplices who shot to death George Alexander Goodrich, of Atlanta and Walter H. Burden, of Tatche, N. Y., in the parlor of the Lennox hotel, following the most daring hold up ever staged in the history of Jacksonville.

Goodrich and Burden, with Mrs. Burden and daughter, were playing cards in the parlor when the two masked men entered the room and covered the party.

"Hands up", demanded one of the masked men in a playful way. The four, thinking it was a joke arranged to scare them, lifted their hands.

"Hand over those diamonds and money" was the next order, crisp and business-like, the playful mood game.

Still the occupants of the parlor thought the whole affair a joke and Mr. and Mrs. Burden laughingly refused to hand over valuable jewelry which they were wearing.

One of the robbers grabbed the diamonds. Burden and Goodrich resisted and six bullets were quickly pumped into their bodies. The robbers dashed to the sidewalk and escaped in an automobile. Goodrich died instantly. Burden died a short time later.

Postoffice Robbed
TOLEDO, O., Feb. 17.—Five bandits drove up to the postoffice at 2 o'clock this morning and held up the clerk at the point of revolvers, seized 11 sacks of registered mail and made their escape.

One official estimated that the loot may amount to between $300,000 and $400,000. Sheriff Taylor and assistants have surrounded several resorts at Point Place, north of the city, in one of which the robbers are believed to be hiding.

A postoffice truck had just arrived from the union station with a load of mail from the East and the employees had finished unloading the truck when the bandits' car drove up to the Fourteenth street entrance and the robbers covered the clerk.

The bandit car was pursued for some distance but succeeded in escaping. The car used by the bandits was recovered later in the morning. It bore an Ohio license number which had been stolen from a local garage Wednesday.

Funeral Held for James M. Simpson
HARTSELLE, Ala., Feb. 17.—Funeral services over the remains of the late J. M. Simpson were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, being conducted from the Methodist church by Rev. Bunyan Smith of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. L. A. Holmes of the Methodist church.

The large church was filled with sorrowing friends and relatives as the last sad rites were said over one who had ingratiated himself into the hearts and minds of all who knew him.

Mr. Simpson busied himself with the things that were real, and wherever sorrow and suffering abounded he was always one of the first to suggest a means of relief. He was a great friend of the old Confederate soldiers, and never missed an encampment, and did much with his means and time to make their annual occasion a happy one.

Several from the Twin Cities were present, among them Judge O. Kyle, who made a touching address over the body of his dead friend.

Mr. Simpson made the request that no flowers be used at the funeral, asking that the money that would be spent in this manner be sent to the starving children for whom a nation-wide appeal is now being made.

Thus ended a life that had carried sunshine in many a spot where darkness abounded, and left to the world a standard that is well worth emulating.

CARUSO STILL IS "SERIOUSLY ILL" BUT HOLDING OWN

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—"Mr. Caruso's condition is just as unsatisfactory as it was yesterday morning," Dr. Murray, one of the five attending physicians, announced today. While the noted singer has made little progress toward recovery because of his weakened heart, he was still to be still "holding his own."

TWO STILLS TAKEN IN MORGAN COUNTY

Two stills were captured by officers yesterday in Bromlett Hollow vicinity, it was reported today on their returns from a raid. The outfits were of 50 and 80 gallon capacity, it was said.

Participating in the raid were Revenue Agents Howell and Hucksaba and Deputy Sheriffs Stewart and Wiley.

Impeachment of Landis Up Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The impeachment charges against Judge Landis will be taken up for investigation next Tuesday by the House judiciary committee. Chairman Volstead today sent notices to all members to be present at this meeting as prompt action is desired.

COURT ADJOURNS
The January term of the county court was recessed today after completing a large amount of work.

BAIRD GRAND JURY WILL REPORT SOON

JASPER, Ala., Feb. 17.—According to statements heard around the courtroom, the grand jury, organized to investigate the lynching of William Baird, will continue its investigation as long as there are possibilities of further evidence being found.

Belief exists that something will be heard from the grand jury within the next 24 hours, either a partial report or notice of a recess.

Acting Assistant Attorney-General Wilkinson will return to Birmingham Friday to make preparations for his trip to Hamilton, where the second trial in the lynching case is to be started next Monday.

THE CROP DIVERSIFICATION CAMPAIGN IN ALABAMA

Agitation for crop diversification in Alabama is being carried on in all sections of the state. Several years ago Alabama experienced a similar campaign which bore excellent results. The war came and our attention was diverted to other matters. During the interim much food stuffs was grown in order that America might aid in feeding her allies.

Peace, as was the case in other lines of endeavor brought a let-down. Unfortunately we were caught in a drop of the cotton market and the staple, grown at great expense, would not bring its cost price when sold.

The crop diversification campaign is one of the natural aftermaths of that condition. Adversity always is a strong reminder of our faults.

The crop diversification campaign this year should prove of even greater value than it did a few years ago, for in 1921 the campaign will have the aid of the American Cotton Association's plan to cut down the cotton acreage.

Reduction of the acreage planted in the staple and increased planting of food stuffs should, and no doubt will, place the farming industry in Alabama on an economic plane higher than it has yet known.

WAR WORK GOES ON

The armistice was signed more than two years ago, yet we find the American Committee for Devastated France still at work "Over There," doing its bit for humanity. It has been generally known France would require many years to recover from the conflict, but it is rather enlightening to find members of this commission working still as if the war was not concluded.

In the February issue of Motor an interesting glimpse of the life these workers lead is given. Motor says:

"Since the Armistice, the American Committee for Devastated France has established seven centers for relief work and social service in the north of France. In each there are groups of from ten to fifteen American and English girls who are carrying medical care into the field wounded and sick from village to hospital, and supplies of food, clothing, livestock and other necessities to the dugouts and huts of two hundred villages and hamlets. Every chauffeur is responsible for the upkeep of her own car. She is expected to make minor repairs herself. Each car has a temperament, perhaps a temper, of its own. They acquire names according to their dispositions, and are known and beloved or scorned by these designations throughout the Committee, but even the "Corpse" is loyally defended by its driver, and "Henry" has a charm of his own while the "Tank" and "Tillie's Nightmare" each brings its memory of valiant service. They are liable to drive many miles a day only to return at night and find that there is a child hurt by a live grenade, who must be transported that night to the hospital at Soissons or at Blerancourt. Meeting emergencies with courage and devotion has been the rule among the overseas chauffeurs. Then, too, the roads are often muddy, and tires choose to blow out right on the sides of the slipperiest hills and one's working uniform is never clean, and the motor shivers and dies in a crisis. Yet ask a chauffeur in France if she would trade her job for any other and see what she says. No other branch of service brings a girl into such close relationship with the peasant folk of France, whom to know is to love and admire. When a camionette stops in the ruined street of a tiny village the people appear to come literally up out of the ground, to crowd about the car with smiling faces, eager for a word with the American lady, so kind, so extraordinary, so strangely undaunted by the intricacies of machinery. She is a phenomenon that they accept on faith, understanding not, but pouring out unstinted affection at her feet. Her sympathy and encouragement win their hearts. They call her in charming patois "Mat tchotte fille," "my little girl," and invite her to share with them the best they have to offer.

One or two villages in particular are assigned to her special protection. She is their Marianne, and in them she knows by name every man, woman and child. These friendships are enduring, and they constitute one of the precious legacies of work among the French. You cannot possibly live close to the heart of life in a tiny village and give as much as you receive.

America has been abused by the European nations from one cause or another because of this or that fancied wrong, but what nation in the history of all the world has done as much for humanity as has America. There is an American commission for this and that relief; the Red Cross is working in every corner of the globe; we give for the aid of the starving Chinese one day and the Armenians the next.

Verily it doth appear that virtue is its own reward.

SACRIFICES IN PEACE TIMES

Apparently all of the sacrifices are not made in wars. A physician in Pennsylvania removed his own appendix to prove his theory that it was not necessary to administer other than a local anesthetic. A Detroit, Mich., man died under circumstances indicating that he took his own life to prove that his spirit would be able to communicate with persons on this earth.

Few of us would care to take the risk the physician took, none of us would care to lay down our life to show to a skeptical world that spiritual communication between the planets is a possibility. It is interesting to note, however, that the days of sacrifice are not entirely gone.

JUDICIAL ECCENTRICITY

Judge Kennesaw Landis of Chicago is the most widely known judge in America, and probably in the world. Without reflection on his ability as a jurist, it may be said that his wide advertisement does not appear to be the result of judicial poise and ability. Judge Landis has the habit of doing and saying striking things, which are all the more striking and unusual because of the position he occupies.

It has been only a short while since the judge was being extensively advertised on account of his acceptance of the place of arbiter in the baseball business, which place carried an advertised salary something like that of the movie star. In this instance the advertisement was mutual. The judge, advertised baseball, and baseball advertised the judge, while the salary advertised both.

More recently Judge Landis gained considerable advertisement by some judicial comment about the sentence of an embezzler. In this case the judge discovered that the culprit had been employed at a salary which the judge thought inadequate, and he therefore delivered himself of the opinion that his employers were responsible for his crime. A judicial holding, in substance and effect, that a man has a right to steal from his employer to make up an inadequate salary, may have been expected to attract some public notice. Especially in the case the judge was discussing, where the convicted man added over $90,000 to a salary of $90 per month by helping himself to the cash of his employers.

Judge Landis is now receiving his greatest advertisement at the hands of Congress. An effort is being made by some of the members of that body to impeach him. If he escapes impeachment he should be able to command a still higher salary in sport, or in some other field where wide notoriety adds to the value of an individual's services. —Nashville Tennessean.

MORE POWER TO THIS MAN

It is hoped that Representative James V. McClintic of the seventh Oklahoma district, says, right on the job when a motion is made in the house to extend a member's remarks and have them printed in the Congressional Record—a practice that has cost the government large sums of money during the years it has been in vogue.

The absurdity of filling the Congressional Record with speeches that are never delivered appears to have impressed itself in a practical way upon Representative McClintic, and he has been objecting to wasting the public's money and imposing on it at the same time.

It may not be generally known that many of the speeches which are sent under congressional frank to admiring constituents by many members of congress, with generous sprinkling of "applause" never heard, has been the plan adopted in congress to keep a member from wasting time over a subject in which nobody is interested.

The practice has enabled many members of mediocre ability to have speeches written and, after stating, the subject to the house, obtain permission to "revise and extend remarks in the Record." It is a plan that found much favor with members who sought to create an impression with the folks at home.

Representative McClintic should continue to interject his "I object" in the interest of economy. In the event that anything should affect his vocal cords to make speech impossible, it is hoped that he will wave his arms or make other signs that will indicate to the house his determination to stay on the job as long as an effort is made to fool the public through the Congressional Record. —Huntsville Telegram.

ATHENIAN COMPLIMENTED

Col. W. T. Sanders, democratic national committeeman from Alabama, was shown a decided honor by the national committee chairman when he was chosen one of a limited number of the committee to meet in Washington this week to consider the future of the party. Mr. Sanders made a most favorable impression upon his associate committeemen while attending the national convention in San Francisco last July and this honor that has come to him is especially to his friends in Athens, his home town, where he is held in such high esteem by men of all classes, factions and parties. —Limestone Democrat.

The only thing that can take care of itself is the past.

Life is just a big interesting game, with the sky the limit.

According to dispatches from Washington, the Fourth Estate, is solid for the full development of Muscle Shoals. That settles it.

The war destroyed the kind of culture Americans used to go to Europe for, and as there never was any money on the continent, what is the use now to make European pilgrimages.

Westward the star of empires was, still going at last accounts. But it has the record for slow speed, as it took ten years for the centre of population to reach Spencer, Ind., only 9.8 miles west from where it was during the 1910 census.

During the last decade the state of California has had a population increase of over a million. That state has spent $140,000,000 on good country roads. Do you suppose there is any vital connection in the two statements?

MOSCOW TO MAKE MOVIES
PRAISING SOVIET REGIME

Big Studio Will be Erected and Prizes Will be Given for Ten Black Colors Horrors of Bour-geois System.

(International News Service)
SMOLENSK, Feb. 17.—The Moscow "Narkompress" (People's Press Commission) has assigned a very large sum of money for the organization in Moscow of a big motion picture studio. Experts from Germany have been invited.

A special committee presided over by Lunacharski announced a competition for ten scenarios. The "winners" will have to answer the following requirements: they must be entertaining, with many thrills, but above all they must praise the Soviet regime and paint in black colors "all the horrors of the bourgeois system in Europe." The first prize is as high as two million roubles.

In the words of Lunacharski, "while all the world continues to foolishly amuse itself by melodramas or detective pictures, we shall use the Russian cinematograph for greater purposes, and by its means will make another attack on bourgeois psychology."

One of the themes announced for competition is "Woman's Role and Participation in the Building of a New Social System."

Pruitt Teale, of Enterprise, has been indicted on a charge of setting fire to a building owned by his father-in-law and will be tried in the circuit court of Coffee county, according to information received by W. J. Williams, state fire marshal, today. Mr. Teale was arrested last week.

Plans for the organization of an observation squadron of the fourth army corps at Birmingham were discussed today at a conference between E. W. Stanford, of Birmingham, former second lieutenant and licensed pilot of the United States army flying service, and Colonel Hartley A. Moon, adjutant-general of the Alabama National Guard.

Mr. Stanford said there are about sixty members of the Birmingham flying club who are ready to take part in the organization and to become members of the squadron.

Sam Robertson of Marshall county, convicted of violating the prohibition laws, was given another trial by the court of appeals yesterday afternoon because of extreme doubt that the evidence against him was sufficient, but a number of other persons who had been adjudged guilty of inflicting upon various sections of the prohibition acts did not fare so well before the court.

Among those who must pay fines or serve prison terms are: Dock Harell and Richard Griffith of Calhoun, who were convicted of violating the prohibition laws and given from one year and one day to two years in prison; Emmett Wooton of Lauderdale, sentenced to from thirteen to fifteen months for the same offense; Miller Johnson of Lauderdale, given from thirteen to fourteen months for the same offense; Zim Magourik, of Calhoun, convicted of manufacturing liquor, and Bob Lang, of Marshall, sentenced for manufacturing liquor.

John Tapscott of Morgan, convicted of violating the prohibition laws, was given another trial because the trial court permitted the state to obtain from Tapscott the admission that he had previously been convicted of the same offense. Other persons convicted of violating the prohibition laws,

RISK LIVES CARRYING MAILS

Swiss Postmen Face Grave Dangers in Execution of Their Duty Among the Mountains.

There are several post offices in Switzerland at a height of 7,000 or more feet and a mail box on the very summit of the Langgord, from which four collections are made daily, is nearly 10,000 feet above the sea level. Near here some years ago three letter carriers were crushed to death by an avalanche. In an adjacent canyon, in the summer of 1803, a postman fell into a crevasse while crossing a glacier, his two full bags on his back. All efforts to recover either the body or the mails were fruitless. But 34 years afterward, in 1837, the glacier cast forth its prey many miles down the valley, and the long lost letters were delivered to as many of the addresses as could be traced.

Not infrequently, too, these Alpine postmen are attacked by the huge, fierce eagles that soar hungrily above the least frequented crags. Usually the men are able to beat off their feathered assailants but not always.

In July one year a postman who carried the mails on foot between the villages of Sospel and Puget Théniers was fatally mauled by three such birds. Of two men who attempted to avenge his death one was killed outright and another injured so severely that his life was for a long time in danger.

Josh Billings. The humorist whose pen-name was "Josh Billings," was Henry Wheeler Shaw. He lived from 1815 to 1885. He turned out many shrewd sayings, bits of quaint philosophy and pointed jokes, but they were rather damaged by the laboriously bad spelling in which they were written. This style of humorous writing, quite popular in the United States half a century ago, has about gone out of vogue. Today Josh Billings is little more than a name.

"SOUP AND FISH" TOGGERY SPURNED BY PARIS DANDIES

Monsieur of the Boulevards Now "Oo-la-la's" Around in a Colored Shirt with a Soft Collar, and Even Wears His Business Duds to a Dance.

By NEWTON C. PARKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The Parisian dandy who used to be caricatured in the American funny papers is as dead as one of the nails in Pharaoh's coffin. He has been replaced by a broad-shouldered young man who goes to the theatre in a colored shirt and soft collar and likes to wear his ordinary business duds to a dance.

No amount of soft persuasion by French society critics, led by Andre de Fouquieres, the nation's Beau Brummel, nor of biting attacks in some of the Paris newspapers on the present "rough-neck" modes in men's dress, can ever bring him back. One Frenchman who was asked to stop dancing in the "swellest" Paris restaurant because he wore a sack suit created such a scene that many guests fled, fearing he was about to wreck the place.

No More Stiff Collars

The latest lament on the subject of soft collars comes from Edouard Pontie, well known writer. In about a column and a half Pontie sheds tears over the departure of the Parisian who knew how to dress and bemoans the fact that Frenchmen got out of the habit shirts during the war and simply can't be dragged back to style.

"Even on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve when these fellows were forced to wear something like evening dress they only donned dinner coats and actually appeared in soft dollars," writes Pontie. "All politicians and all correctness in men's dress have departed."

It's Positively Shocking "The thing is more shocking when we consider that these roughly dressed Frenchmen are seated with parties of women more gorgeously gowned than before the war. The women parade beautiful décollete robes, pearl necklaces and diamonds. But their dancing partners look as if they had descended from some centre of Apaches. It is up to the women themselves to call men to their senses."

One dancing club after another and one restaurant after another has sought to enforce the "evening dress only" rule for men, but the only "evening dressers" are foreigners out doing the sighs. In perhaps the best known restaurant in Paris a few nights ago a Frenchman wearing a hunting jacket, corduroy breeches and leather puttees danced among a crowd of Americans and Englishmen all in evening clothes and he didn't seem to feel at all out of place.

Garrett Answers Republican Charge

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Charging that the dominant purpose of the Republican investigators of war expenditures was to make political capital, Representative Garrett, Democrat, of Tennessee, today challenged the criticism of war contracts and condemnation of American citizens who performed war service for the government, made by Chairman Graham of the investigating committee.

WILSON OF TODAY IS FAR FROM RUGGED MAN OF 2 YEARS AGO

Those Who Had Hoped to See Once More the Vigorous Woodrow Wilson Now Realize He Is a Man Whose Health Will Never Be Strong Again—Great Contrast.

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Woodrow Wilson today is not the Woodrow Wilson of two years ago. The national capital has come to this realization since the President has made recent public appearances at the theatre.

All during the long siege of illness which the President has undergone the optimistic statements from the White House have given rise to the general impression that sooner or later the old Woodrow Wilson would appear in public.

The recent public appearances which the President has made have disillusioned those who have hoped to see once more the vigorous Woodrow Wilson, and they realize now that he is an old, broken man, whose health will never be strong again.

Comparison between Woodrow Wilson at the theatre two years ago and Woodrow Wilson at the theatre now is almost pitiful.

Was Ardent Theatregoer.
Never was there a more ardent theatregoer than Woodrow Wilson, and never a more appreciative auditor. Statesman and scholar, nevertheless he found joy in the antics of slapstick comedians and he apparently found thorough pleasure in the strains of the modern jazz and the gyrations of the accompanying dancers.

Woodrow Wilson at the theatre in the old days was a man whose eyes sparkled, who sat in the closest attention, and who laughed heartily at jokes almost insane, and was profuse in his applause. He appeared to exult in all of the beauty and grace that was paraded across the stage. A most enthusiastic theatre fan was the old Woodrow Wilson. Players, particularly comedians and vaudevillians, loved to play before him for they found him quick to respond, and generous in his applause.

At the theatre now, Woodrow Wilson is a restrained auditor. He enters through a side door and with Secret Service men and members of his family at his side, he walks slowly into his box, leaning heavily on his cane. He wears a cape, for it is easy for him to draw it close about him. His entrance always brings applause and for a minute he falters and bows slightly, sometimes feebly waving his cane to the applauding audience. Then he slowly and carefully takes his seat in a far corner of the box, with cane still about him and his cane still in hand. His face is thin and wrinkled, his hair is graying and perhaps a little thinner. The animation that once characterized his face is gone. The flash of his eyes is dimmed.

Sits Quietly in Box
The play begins and Woodrow Wilson pushes forward slowly in his chair and then slips back again. His attention is the closest, but the ready response to the stage action is no longer there. When some bit of comedy amuses him, he smiles, almost with an effort and there is little of the hearty laughter and the whispers to the members of his party that formerly encouraged the players. When his enthusiasm must give vent, he grasps his cane and pounds upon the floor while one arm remains at his side. He follows every line, he is still a theatre fan, but his enthusiasm is that of an old man, a man who finds enthusiasm almost an effort, though his interest is unflagging.

The play over, the audience generally waits until the President has left. As he leaves his box there is a burst of applause and a cheer of two, and the President turns, sometimes seemingly with a desire to show his strength, and in a faltering manner he turns back a few steps, bows and smiles thinly and then grasping his cane waves it to the audience rather feebly. Then through a guarded side door he steps into his motor and is whisked away through a back alley, avoiding the crowds.

The audience leaves, fully realizing that the vigorous Woodrow Wilson of yesterday is no more.

"BEAUTY IN BREECHES" GETS RAZZ IN SAINTLY ZION CITY

(International News Service)
ZION CITY, Ill., Feb. 17.—"Beauty in Breeches" have no place in Zion, headquarters of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of the followers of the late John Alexander Dowie, made this plain today when he declared that he was "utterly opposed to women wearing 'breeches,' suspenders, felt hats or other male garb, and even more strongly opposed to women occupying men's places."

"All of this woman business is just a sign of the times," said Voliva. "I am not afraid of any male woman in this country, and I will give them hell."

"God intended that every woman should be married. God intended that every woman should sit on a throne in the home. And God never intended that a woman should go around wearing 'breeches,' suspenders, and felt hats and stand on the corner of the street howling like a short-horned bull."

"If there's anything I despise it's a male woman or a female man. I have no use for them. Think of a woman standing up here this afternoon preaching to you men! No woman shall preach in this church. Paul says: 'I suffer not a woman to teach.' Then let her keep her mouth shut."

"Let us take the word of God, which says that a man is the head of the house. The woman is the neck. I thank God for the women in Zion. I guess they are all right."

FRENCH STAGE TO HALT FOREIGNERS

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Quite a sensation has been caused in France by an edict made public by the Federation of Theatres to prevent theatres from employing but a certain percentage of foreigners in their shows.

The Federation states that competition from foreign groups is much too strong. On the other hand, French theatres, and especially music halls, remark that the percentage of foreigners employed is far below that generally accepted. They also fear that if France were to attempt to prevent foreign artists from appearing on French stages foreign countries, and particularly America, England and Belgium, would likewise prohibit the appearance of France artists and thereby deal a severe blow to French theatrical interests. They point out also that many dancers and singers whose names terminate in "oe" or "aka" are in reality often born in the heart of Paris and that likewise the comic who speaks with a strong American accent on the stage speaks the ugliest French slang when off the boards.

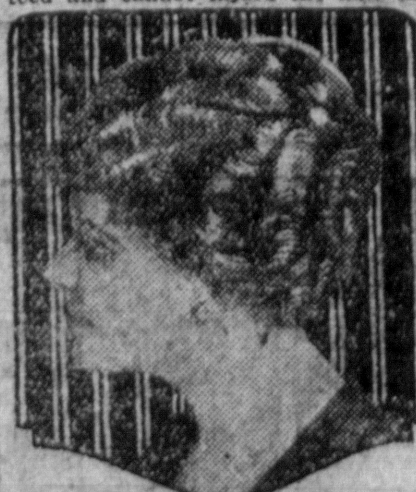

"INDIAN SUMMER" NOT A MYTH

Pioneer Settlers Heard the Expression
With a Thrill of Apprehension
Easy to Understand.

"Indian summer" owes its name not to any poetic fancy, but to the painful experiences of early frontier settlement. During the long-continued Indian wars the settlers enjoyed no peace except during the winter, when, owing to the severity of the weather, the Indians were unable to make any raids. The coming of winter was therefore hailed with delight by the backwoodsmen, who until then had been cooped up in their little uncomfortable forts. They removed to their cabins on the farms with the exhilaration of prisoners released from confinement. Sometimes, however, it happened that, after the apparent beginning of winter, the weather became warm again. This was the "Indian summer," because it afforded the Indians another opportunity of visiting the settlements with their destructive warfare. In his "Notes on the Settlement and Indian Wars of the Western Parts of Virginia and Pennsylvania," published in 1824, the Rev. J. Doddridge remarks that in his own day a backwoodsman seldom heard the expression "Indian summer" without feeling a chill of horror, because it brought to his mind the painful recollection of its original sense.

Amusements

"THE IMP" STAR TODAY

Elsie Janis in "The Imp," a new Selznick picture, will be the attraction at the Star theatre today. In this production Miss Janis is scoring her greatest screen success, as it lends itself admirably to her type and delightful personality.

As Jane, a wealthy young girl who has had for a hobby the study of criminals, she portrays the life of a female crook. Jane, after a blow on the head, which causes a coma, emerges with an entirely new personality, believing herself the famous Annie Adams, known as "The Imp." In this role America's "regular girl" displays all the charming qualities that has made her so popular on stage and screen.

Joe King heads the supporting cast, which includes Ethel Stewart, E. J. Ratelle, Duncan Penwarden, John Southerland and others.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU LEAPED TO FAME IN ROLE AS MOTHER PRINCESS TODAY

"Mother love!" Marjorie Rambeau's expressive countenance lit up as she uttered those words. "Mother love," the most celebrated emotional actress of the American stage and screen continued, "is the most magnificent thing a life—it is the driving force behind every worthwhile impulse."

And Miss Rambeau should know. It was as the mother in the noted stage success, "The Fortune Teller," that she rounded out a career already brilliant with noteworthy achievements. The critics were unanimous in praising her characterization as the finest contribution to the American stage since Mrs. Fiske and Mrs. Leslie Carter.

Miss Rambeau's work was on such high plane of excellence that it was decided to immortalize it by transferring it to the screen. Albert Capellani, a famous director, was assigned the task of production. The result is the most notable contribution of its sort to the art of the silent drama.

Carbonated Ice Cream

The Newest and Purest Thing
"Under the Sun"

The ice cream industry of the world has been turned topsy-turvy by a wonderful new method of making super-pure ice cream—which is known as "carbonating." By means of a tiny device attached to the freezer, all ordinary air is forced out of the cream and replaced by atmosphere A HUNDRED TIMES PURER THAN AIR. The result is ice cream far purer and finer than anyone has ever imagined was possible.

This method has been limited to ONE ice cream maker in any one city. And since it always has been the policy of the Sidebottom Pure Ice Cream and Dairy Company to produce the finest and purest ice cream possible, we have secured sole rights to this amazing method and device for all Nashville. Our freezers are the only ones in the city equipped to make CARBONATED ICE CREAM. Now ALL our ice cream is this more-than-pure kind; this NEW kind of ice cream.

Sidebottom ICE CREAM

IS CARBONATED
This is another reason why people insist upon our

WITH THIS SOUND SILENCER YOU CAN SLEEP UNDISTURBED, EVEN IN A BOILER FACTORY

By J. G. L. BRICKER,

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 17.—Imagine a slumberer's paradise where infants could wall, the people upstairs could jump and dance, where roosters could crow at daybreak and the alarm clock jingle forever, and one could sleep peacefully on, immune to all disturbances!

The whole world will be such a snoozer's heaven when Hiram P. Maxim, inventor of the Maxim silencer for firearms, completes an invention on which he said he is now working. Maxim, while here recently attending a convention of the American Radio Relay League, made known that he was working on this boon for woovers of Morpheus.

No longer will the clink of the milkman's bottles disturb late sleeping flat dwellers, nor will the clatter of chips in the late "penny ante" game next door interfere with those who believe in "early to bed," said Maxim once his invention is perfected. And the poor traveling man will be able to snooze away without even a sound of the grind of Pullman car wheels.

FLOODING ALSACE WITH PROPAGANDA

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 17.—According to Excelsior, German propaganda in Alsace and Lorraine is taking vast proportions. Thousands of pamphlets containing abusive articles against France are poured into the two provinces weekly.

Newspapers published in Baden, considered as the capital of German propaganda, publish similar articles and urge Germans who have remained in Alsace and Lorraine to help the propaganda bureau. The Heimatsdienst, which is the principal organ of propaganda, and which the French newspapers say is evidently inspired by official circles, publishes figures showing that more than 23 million Germans live in foreign countries and that this force should be used in propagating German culture.

The figures show that there are more than 9,000,000 Germans in the United States, 600,000 in Central and South America, 115,000 in Belgium, 4,000,000 in Czechoslovakia, 700,000 in Jugoslavia, 300,000 in Hungary and 6,000,000 in Austria. Thus the propaganda service understands that the whole population of the latter country are German and there can be little wonder that the service boasts the union of Austria and Germany. Likewise, the Heimatsdienst says all the population of Dantzig and Luxembourg is German.

In Germany illustrated books are printed containing souvenirs of Alsace and Lorraine and are distributed to former inhabitants of these provinces. These books carry a message from Hindenburg in which the former army commander openly preaches revenge.

Another review, Reichwart, is edited by Count Ernst von Reventlow. It publishes every week and apart from its criticism of French administration prints letters it is supposed to receive from Alsacians complaining of being separated from the "homeland." It also attempts to prove the Germanic race of the Alsacians and says the province is being strangled economically.
